

Nomad Foods is Europe's leading frozen food company and one of the largest in the world. Our portfolio of leading brands, anchored by Birds Eye, Findus and iglo, have been serving local European markets for generations and stand for food that is great tasting, high quality and convenient. Headquartered in the United Kingdom, Nomad Foods has 13 factories in Europe and about 4.600 employees.

For our manufacturing cluster Germany, Italy, France and Spain with more than 1.500 employees we are currently looking for a strategic based in one of our German sites (Reken or Bremerhaven).

European Safety, Health & Environment (SHE) Manager (m/f/d)

At Nomad Foods, we believe in SHE as a key driver of success. As a member of the Central Nomad Foods SHE leadership team, the European SHE Cluster Manager plays a pivotal role in achieving our ambitious objectives. He or she is accountable for implementing game-changing initiatives, policies and programs.

Accountabilities:

- Develop and implement a SHE strategy for the sites, enabling the Nomad Foods SHE strategic vision and continuous improvement in performance
- Providing leadership and guidance to the site management teams to ensure SHE is maintained as a key business enabler, working with the local SHE function and management teams
- Being actively involved in all large capital projects to ensure health and safety is designed into the project from the start
- Cascading Nomad Foods SHE standards and sharing best practice across the Group
- Ensuring Governance at the sites by performing regular visits and audits
- Ensuring legal compliance to all safety, health and environmental legislation within the countries of operation

Qualification:

- Degree level qualification in safety, environment or engineering
- 5-10 years experience in safety or environmental in a production environment
- Experience in implementing and maintaining environmental and safety management systems, ideally incl. BBS
- Strong communications skills on all levels, along with result orientation and assertiveness
- Fluent in English and German
- Experience in leading teams, ideally multi-site and cross-national
- Readiness for regular international travel

We offer an exciting role and a competitive package with a market-leading and growth-oriented international player. Want to grow with us? Please send your application to bewerbung-reken@iglo.com or contact Bernd Ahlert (HR Manager Germany, +49 2864 82-221).